

Global Professional Development for WIL Practitioners

Two modules being offered in March 2017

Would you like to undertake professional development in WIL?
Do you have staff looking for professional development?

Whether new to WIL or involved for a while, collaborate with practitioners from Australia, Canada, New Zealand and Sweden.

The two modules are:

- Global Perspectives in Work-Integrated Learning
Provides practitioners the opportunity to enhance their understanding of the relationship between WIL and learning theory; and how theory informs WIL from a global perspective
- Industry/Community Engagement for WIL - A new module for 2017
Provides practitioners the opportunity to further their understanding the fundamental importance of industry/community engagement for WIL and to improve strategies to enhance this engagement

Study online – approx 20 hours preparation & participation 20 March 2017 for 8 weeks (in two 4 week blocks with a break for Easter), concluding late May.

Module descriptors and timetables are available from the following webpages:

- Global Perspectives from <http://blog.ei.hv.se/wil16>
- Industry/Community Engagement from <http://blog.ei.hv.se/engagement16>

Expressions of interest, go to <https://goo.gl/forms/W4xyAJBQeL436aZG2>

You will be asked which of the two modules you are interested in. Participants may participate in only one module at a time. Places will be limited.

Have questions about these modules? Complete the form and use the comments field.

On completion of the module, participants receive a Certificate of Completion.

This module was developed and is presented by representatives of four national associations: Australian Collaborative Education Network (ACEN); Canadian Association for Co-operative Education (CAFCE); New Zealand Association of Cooperative Education (NZACE); The Vilar Network (Sweden)